

Position on Allergens

Introduction

Chr. Hansen wants to provide useful, accurate and complete information about our products to ensure that consumers who may suffer from food allergies have sufficient information to avoid an accidental allergic reaction from consuming one of our products.

Statements

Product allergen statements

- We will disclose information on major allergens in our products in accordance with the US Food Allergen Labeling and Consumer Protection Act of 2004 and EU Directive 2000/13/EC through our product allergen statements.

Avoid major allergens

- We avoid, whenever technically and economically feasible, using major allergens in our production processes and products.

Suppliers

- We will require that our suppliers manage all major allergens and disclose the information.

Regulatory and scientific knowledge

- We actively monitor regulatory and scientific developments that affect our products and industry to ensure that our product allergen statements remain accurate and up to date.

Scope

Principles apply to the whole organization of Chr. Hansen and our suppliers of traded goods and raw materials used in our production.
