A European yogurt producer used our audit and phage management services to eliminate their phage issues, optimize their production, and achieve consistency in their products

Improving numbers with a robust phage management system

A French set yogurt producer experienced regular acidification delays and texture defects. They also had to discard large amounts of their products due to phage.

They implemented a phage audit where our technical experts conducted detailed phage testing and identified the issues as phage attacks. We helped develop an improved phage management system to overcome their phage issues and to avoid them in the future.

After the audit, the customer implemented the tailored phage management system and no phage attacks have been detected since, resulting in:

Optimized production & reduced costs

Consistency in products, Increased brand value & satisfied customers

How can our solutions help you detect and avoid phages and implement a tailored phage management system?

When you incorporate our products into your production, you also gain access to on-the-ground support through our global phage network, and to our PhageWatch™ digital service.

Our technical experts work alongside you to monitor and audit your production and offer tailored recommendations for improvements.

PhageWatch™ helps with monitoring and analyzing through a user-friendly dashboard you can access in real time for the best, most accurate results possible.
